Churchill Warns Commons War May Continue Into 1945

The War Today...

JUST AS EXPECTED, the defeat at Arnhem and Allied failure to walk through the Siegfried line has resulted in widespread belief that the war has gone to pot. Forgetting how we glossed over defeats two and three years ago, we are now "success-conditioned" and every temporary setback becomes a major catastrophe.

It was true at Cassino, and when the Germans and bad weather delayed us a little while in Normandy, and now again when we have lost, in a dramatic episode, fewer men than have the Germans in many actions which failed even to make the front pages. It is a reaction from a few weeks ago when the German army was "broken" and speculation was rife as to whether it could make even a halfway decent stand on the Rhine.

Now we are talking of a winter war of frustration on the western front. Churchill, naturally taking the opportunity to overcome any possible remaining overconfidence, reminds that it could be, but carefully abstains from saying it will.

Well, it could be. People fighting with their backs to their homes often upset the best military calculations. On Sept. 28, 1941, there were few who conceded the Russians any chance to stop the Nazis before Moscow.

But today's military set-up hardly fits the same mold. The Allies probably have on the western front three times as many men as do the Germans. They are better equipped, their rear areas are practically free from the constant bombing which harries every German move, and they have unlimited resources behind them.

IT WOULD have been very helpful if the airborne troops could have held the Rhine bridge at Arnhem. But the jobs back and forth up and down the front are only the warm-up rounds in the real battle for Germany. Delay now, as at Caen, means only that once again Eisenhower is sending no boys to do a man's job. The German campaign will start when he is ready to start it, and that probably very soon.

The Germans keep counter-attacking the American First and Third armies, while fighting bitterly to contain the still-attacking British, French and American Seventh Army.

NEW FIGURES ON LOSSES TO DATE SHOWN

Indicates Stalin Will Be Asked To Sit In On Allied Parley

By JOHN F. CHESTER
LONDON, Sept. 28.—Prime Minister Churchill warned the house of commons today that, despite German losses approaching the 1,000,000-mark in northwest Europe, the war might still continue into 1945.

He indicated he considered a new three-power meeting to include Premier Marshal Stalin was essential before revelation of peace plans.

Opening a two-day war and peace debate, the prime minister made these points, among others:

1. That perhaps 200,000 Germans are now trapped in Holland and their capture or destruction appeared "highly probable".

2. That German losses in France, Belgium and Holland since D-day can now be placed officially at 400,000 killed and wounded, with nearly 500,000 more as prisoners.

3. That Allied losses during the same period now stand at 90,000 British and 145,000 Americans killed, wounded or missing.

4. That "no one—certainly not I—can guarantee that several months of 1945 may not be required 'to finish off Germany'".

5. That even after organized resistance ceases, fierce warfare may still be carried on in the German hills and mountains "by numbers of desperate men conscious of their own guilt and impending doom".

"Complete Agreement"

6. That the Allies now have landed between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 troops in northwestern Europe, and that nearly 250,000 men rushed ashore during the first 24 hours of the invasion.

7. That "complete agreement on every point" was reached between himself and President Roosevelt at the Quebec conference.

8. That the British fleet had been offered for the war against Japan and the offer "cordially accepted"—with much of Britain's naval strength already gathered in the Indian ocean.

9. That the 10 Japanese divisions which were launched against India have been largely shattered, with between 50,000 and 60,000 slain, but that a new enemy offensive can be expected.

Third Wound

Pfc. Willard Plegge of Salem, Hurt Twice in Italy, Is Victim in France

Pfc. Willard Plegge, wounded twice in action in Italy, has been wounded again—this time in France, according to a letter received by his father, Joseph, of 438 Franklin st., yesterday.

Wounded this time in the right shoulder, Pfc. Plegge wrote his brother, John, and told him he was back in the hospital again, after having been transferred from the fighting in Italy to the battlefields of France.

The Salem infantryman first was wounded in the back at the Anzio beachhead Feb. 29. Late in May, after returning to duty, he suffered a head wound in the fighting around Rome.

Early in June, his brother received a letter saying "just a line to let you know I'm back in the hospital again. They got me in the head the first time, in the head this time. But, I'll be back at those Germans again in about a month and then I'll really let them have it."

His address is: Pfc. Willard Plegge, Co. E, 15th Infantry, APO 3, care of postmaster, New York City.

CUTBACK FORCING
LISBON LAYOFFS

LISBON, Sept. 28.—The National Brass and Copper Co. of Lisbon has announced that due to a recent cutback in government orders for the Navy, a number of employees will have to be laid off for a period of four to six weeks until machinery changes are made for a new contract the company has secured.

Present employees as they are laid off will be referred to the War Labor board in Salem for work in essential war plants in the district. Those affected will be given the opportunity to rehire with the company as soon as production starts on the new contract, which is expected to be in production by the latter part of November.

Account For Record Bag Of 32 Jap Vessels In Indian Ocean

(By Associated Press)
British submarines sank 32 Japanese vessels in a series of daring forays to take the heaviest toll of enemy shipping in the Indian ocean yet reported. The Admiralty announced in London today.

They dipped into Japanese-controlled Port Owen in southern Burma and sank two gunboats lying at anchor, shelled oil tanks on Christmas island off Java and ranged as far as Sunda strait between Java and Sumatra.

Java thus became the first meeting place of the striking arms of Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia forces and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Southwest Pacific command.

Batavia, capital of Java, was strafed for the first time Sunday when MacArthur's reconnaissance planes made a 3,200 mile round-trip fight from Australia. They caught the Japanese completely by surprise.

Other Southwest Pacific bombers sank three freighters in sweep reaching up to the southern Philippines, 1,500 miles northeast of Batavia.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' Pacific forces struck a dozen Japanese islands in a triangle reach from Palau, 3,100 miles north to Parau, 2,400 miles east to the Marshalls, including Truk, Marcus, Wake and Iwo.

Industrial Wastes Kill
Fish, Report Indicates

LISBON, Sept. 28.—Industrial wastes from the National Brass and Copper Co. plant are responsible for the deaths of thousands of fish in Beaver creek here, according to a report issued by the Ohio Division of Conservation following a survey of the waters by the Rust Engineering Co. It was revealed today.

Upon the request of the division, the engineering firm made tests and investigations of the conditions in Beaver creek and reported that the wastes, plus the low level of the water flow, caused the damage.

They suggested the erection of mill bed tanks to hold the poisonous acids until the creek flows full and fast again. Closing of the mill race was also suggested, as the wastes and Lisbon sewage now is flowing around the dam instead of over it.

Office Change Argument Due
For Further Political Debate

(By Associated Press)
Contrary estimates by Gov. Dewey and Vice President Wallace on the effect that a change of administrations would have on jobs after the war pointed up this issue today as one due to get renewed emphasis in the next big surge of political oratory.

Gov. John W. Bricker, Dewey's running mate on the Republican presidential ticket, is to make a nationwide broadcast from St. Louis on the fourth. President Roosevelt will be on the air from Washington the following night and Dewey will broadcast from Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 6.

The question of whether a Democratic or Republican administration could provide more jobs comes up in every campaign and has been treated at length in this one.

Wallace, busily working for the Roosevelt-Truman ticket, yesterday at Philadelphia told shipyard workers their chances are better under the Democrats. Then he followed up with a radio speech saying a public works program may be needed and that "we must never allow the days of Hoover to return."

Dewey came back to Albany today from a cross-country tour during which he pictured the New Deal as afraid of the unemployment problems of peace—a picture Mr. Roosevelt has called totally wrong.

On his way back, Dewey told a crowd at Muncie, Ind., he is "not afraid that we won't have jobs for all after the war if we get a government in which the people will have confidence."

Other moves on the political checkerboard:

Bricker's St. Louis speech was announced as part of a four-week campaign tour of southern and midwestern states, starting next Monday.

Frank E. Gannett, Rochester, N. Y., publisher who is trustee of the Committee for Constitutional Government, Inc., said it would carry to the courts its fight against supplying donor lists the house campaign expenditures committee has subpoenaed. Gannett's statement declared his group is non-political in its "advocacy of a philosophy of government" and its opposition to "the growth of Communism and Fascism."

Five of Louisiana's 10 Democratic presidential electors now have resigned rather than sign a pledge to vote for the Roosevelt-Truman ticket. The state chairman said they would be replaced.

Tri-Power Officials Wind Up Sessions At Dumbarton Oaks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Officials of the United States, British and Russian governments wind up their world security planning at Dumbarton Oaks today without reaching the complete agreement they had hoped for when the conference opened six weeks ago.

Undersecretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., chairman of the meeting, summed up the 90 per cent of agreement he said had actually been accomplished as extremely satisfactory progress toward reaching a basis for a world organization.

The main point left over is whether one of the great powers, if accused of aggression, should have a right to vote in the proposed world council on whether the accusation is to be sustained or rejected. Russia is understood to have favored such a right while the United States, and apparently the British also, argued against it.

The second phase of the Dumbarton Oaks talks is scheduled to begin tomorrow afternoon, after issuance of a joint news release tomorrow morning on the conclusion of the first phase. This concluding period will consist of talks by the British and American delegates with a Chinese delegation on the same points covered in the Russian conversations and any others the Chinese wish to bring up.

Several weeks ago Secretary Hull said he hoped a full dress conference of the United States might formally receive and consider the U. S. Soviet-British-Chinese plan sometime this fall. Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee said a world organization treaty might reach congress in January.

Questioned on these points yesterday afternoon when he announced the conclusion of the Russian phase, Stettinius said he believed such a schedule is still possible.

On the first anniversary of the corps' organization, 1,076 schools were participating in the wartime nurse education program and today there are more than 100,000 Cadet Nurses in the nation.

Many more are needed, however, to maintain civilian hospitals and community health standards and to assist in the vast program of care for wounded, convalescent and returning veterans of this war.

BULLETIN
WITH THE BRITISH SECOND ARMY, Sept. 28.—British troops stormed up to the Meuse on a 14-mile front today, wiping out a 10-mile pocket from which the Germans had launched their first savage thrust to cut the Allied lifeline to the Rhine.

By JAMES M. LONG
LONDON, Sept. 28.—The Allies' Nijmegen lifeline widened today into an offensive wedge which was within 25 miles of walling off in western Holland perhaps 200,000 Germans who may be added to the nearly 1,000,000 already written out of the battle of western Europe.

But the loss of the Allies' only bridgehead across the Rhine at Arnhem in Holland by British First Airborne division troops, whose 2,000 remnants trickled back through the corridor, apparently had dispelled hopes of a quick victory over Germany.

The Germans threw Third Army Americans out of their hard-won toe-hold at the entrance to the moat-ringed Fort of Driant which guards the west-bank approaches to Metz on the Moselle. The Nazis declared they also had smashed a bridgehead across the Antwerp-Turnhout canal west of the Nijmegen corridor.

Against these reverses, First Army Americans burst through the pill-box-studded six-mile wide Hurtgen forest, 14 miles southeast of besieged Aachen, in a powerful effort to tear open the blocked way to Cologne.

Canadian soldiers attacked through the canal lines around Calais on the channel coast. They worked across the western flats into a stronghold, toward the port district.

Almost everywhere, the Germans said, the Allied attack was increasing in force from western Holland to the Elbe front.

They admitted the loss of positions in a "heavy fluctuating battle against far superior forces" east of Lure, 15 miles west of Belfort, said strong Allied attacks had started from the Nancy area in a northern direction, and declared new airborne forces had been flung against Hertogenbosch, 10 miles ahead of the British push west from the Nijmegen corridor.

A big gun duel around Metz, the Germans added, was deepening to a full American attack on that great fortress.

The cost of these operations was indicated by Prime Minister Churchill who told commons that Allied losses in the invasion so far totaled 235,000 killed, wounded and captured. Of these 145,000 were Americans and 60,000 British.

Nearly 500,000 Germans had been captured and 400,000 killed and wounded since D-day, he said, while perhaps 200,000 more may well be trapped and destroyed in western Holland. These 200,000 do not include others sealed off in the channel islands, St. Nazaire and Lorient, the last two siege ports in Brittany, and the Bordeaux pockets along the Bay of Biscay.

The latest official Supreme headquarters figure on British airborne troops withdrawn from the Arnhem bridgehead was slightly over 2,000. Earlier estimates from Gen. Montgomery's 21st army group headquarters were that 1,700 to 2,800 had escaped.

Eleven major bridges span that stream across which Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's men must sooner or later fight their way, but massed before them are Hitler's best troops.

The Germans can count on the period of bad weather, now beginning, to aid in their defense. Normally during the autumn and early winter rain falls on 16 or 17 days each month. In another month heavy, persistent fogs will make observation difficult.

Allied official sources avoided applying the label of defeat to loss of the Arnhem bridgehead across Holland's Neder Rhine.

They declared the long and costly stand of the British First Airborne division, the "Red Devils," had helped develop a new eastward thrust now taking shape along the length of the Maas river a few miles from the Dutch-German frontier. Field dispatches said the corridor to the Neder now was firmly held and being steadily expanded.

He said these offenses would have to stop or stricter measures would be applied.

No Mud, Just Quotes

Gov. Dewey will throw no mud, just quotations—the opposition's quotations. As of Monday night, New Dealers now greet each other with a question—"What did you say that can be used against us?"

The Oklahoma City speech was a political hot spot for Gov. Dewey. His earnest, sober campaign had been challenged by Mr. Roosevelt's resort to quips and recriminations Saturday night. It raised the question of the governor's ability to take care of himself in a political rough-house.

His partisans need have no further fears. Gov. Dewey has a secret weapon for use in emergencies—a quotation bazooka. While he is not going to confine his campaign to telling the public what the opposition has been saying for the record the last 11 years, whenever it wants to play rough the bazooka will be ready. It is apparently rigged up like an automatic filing system. Gov. Dewey pushed T for Truman and handled that situation in a hurry at Oklahoma City. There probably is something just as embarrassing stored up under S for Sidney, W for Wallace, R for Roosevelt and I for Ickes and Indigestion, when the right time comes.

A lot of quotations pile up in 11 years, and they are all there with the rest of the record—the speeches, promises, investigations, accusations, statistics, explanations, hot potatoes, cold turkey, applesauce and malarkey.

It now is apparent that this is going to be a lively campaign, much closer to the national tradition of quadrennial fireworks than seemed likely a few weeks ago. The whole picture changed the instant it became plain that Mr. Roosevelt intended to play rough—a disclosure, incidentally, which will make it vastly easier for Mr. Dewey, who was under the handicap up to last Saturday night of not knowing what his opponent would do. But he knows now.

The Rooseveltians have Charley Michelson stirring the smears and softening up the mud for the battle of the fourth term. They have sent for Robert Sherwood, the playwright who helped manufacture propaganda for the third term battle to hustle home from his G.W.I. job in Europe—the war can wait. By radio, telegraph, carrier pigeon and Democratic donkey, word is being rushed to the outlying precincts that now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party and no fooling.

If Mr. Roosevelt thought the fourth term was going to be easy, circumstances once more have altered cases. The grapevines of politics are warning that indispensability is not an absolute but only a relative state and to be on guard against a man with a black mustache. But don't quote any Rooseveltians on that. They're sensitive about being quoted right now, and the campaign still has six weeks to go.

Turnover

The British government's official version of cradle-to-the-grave security, offered as an alternative to the plan presented by Sir William Beveridge, is somewhat more liberal in certain of its terms, slightly less costly in its entire application. Presumably, the new plan will be taken up for discussion in the United States, just as was the Beveridge plan; it has seemed at times as if Sir William might be having more actual influence in Washington than in London.

It is a circumstance of the 1944 campaign, meanwhile, that social security—not cradle-to-the-grave yet, but a more moderate version spanning the period from first job to last one—has been neutralized as a partisan issue by general agreement. That is to say, no matter which party organizes the government, social security in the United States is going to continue in its present form, with obvious extensions of certain benefits not made available originally but which were intended to become available as the system expanded.

This, then, is the direction we are moving in, for better or worse. As against the benefits there will be, of course, some disadvantages; there always are. One is the certainty that individual thrift will suffer. In Quentin Reynolds' "The Curtain Rises" appears this comment on social security in Soviet Russia.

"No one could ever accuse Muscovites of being hoarders. Secure in the knowledge that pensions will take care of them in their old age and that medical care is free should illness come, they spend every ruble they earn to make life more easy. If you mention the hard times inevitably ahead of them, they shrug their shoulders, smile, and murmur their favorite word, 'Nichevol.' Money is merely something to be quickly transformed into commodity goods."

Arnhem Will Come Often

Vertical attack from the air is a new maneuver, introduced in this war, used successfully many times, almost never unsuccessfully. If the attack on Arnhem by British sky troops is a failure, it will have to be granted that failures have been so far.

Sky-borne attack is a deliberate projection of military force into enemy territory beyond the point of direct contact. It embodies all the danger of an advance scouting party multiplied many times by intentionally getting out of contact, then initiating action. Once committed to battle, sky troops must win or be wiped out; they cannot retreat.

The amazing thing is that their plight at Arnhem, surrounded by the enemy and beyond the effective reach of other Allied forces, should be considered unusual. If it were not for the painstaking organization of attack which characterizes the operation, Arnhem would be the rule, instead of the exception. It is probable that as vertical attack becomes a better known tactical expectancy in war, the Arnhems will happen more, rather than less, often.

Never ask a judge to give you a little of his time.

The Stars Say

For Friday, September 29

THE EMPHASIS seems to be on the lighter, finer and more artistic and cultural aspects of living, with those businesses thriving which are most closely related to these aspirations and objectives. Engagements flourish, with social, domestic and affectional ties holding the interest and talents. Funds may be easy and the affairs of youth give much happiness and satisfaction. Cultivate talents under this rule.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a pleasant and prosperous year, with affairs of the home, youth, with its romance, cultural developments and finer aspirations being under high stimuli for success and productivity. All kinds of business pertaining to advancing such objectives are under benefic rule and should be pushed to high goals. But refrain from over extravagance or excesses, even though high romantic adventure may invite and stimulate.

A child born on this day may have artistic talents, with versatility and social or personal graces to assure a kindly, pleasant and successful life. It should be good natured and compassionate.

Prospects In the Pacific

By James Thrasher

There is no D-Day mystery surrounding our current campaign in the Pacific. The consolidated forces of General MacArthur and Admiral Halsey are advancing step by step, almost calling their shots, toward the Philippines, the greatest Pacific prize short of Japan itself.

Liberation of the Philippines will be a terrific blow to Japan in loss of strategic position, supply and prestige. And our gains will be correspondingly great. We shall then have two barrels pointed at the heart of Japan. Manila is less than 1900 miles from Tokyo, well within the announced range of the B-29 super-bomber. It is within 700 miles of the China coast.

Japan is clearly facing her doom, but that doom does not seem imminent. Most Allied military leaders foresee a long and difficult fight, even when the great force of America and Britain can be concentrated on the Pacific war. For China's strength is waning as ours grows in the island campaigns.

The Chinese army is still brave, but increasingly weary. It is still wretchedly armed and supplied. And there is little we can do about it at the moment. Until we can, and that day now seems distant, Japan will probably continue to tighten her grip on China, no matter how badly she fares elsewhere.

Some military minds admit the possibility of Japan's continuing the war for some time even with the homeland lost, if she can retain Manchuria and her Chinese territories.

Most of these military minds now appear to believe that there is no bypassing a great land campaign in China to drive every Jap out of the occupied territory. So we shall need speed as well as power, before Japan's grip on the continent becomes too paralyzing.

Yet General MacArthur, who probably knows the enemy as well as anyone, has a new and encouraging view. He says that Japan is already doomed by the deterioration of her high command and officer material, and by the possible public reaction to it. This is important, for it may give us new propaganda weapons for an attack which up to now has been extremely difficult because of Japan's culture and national psychology.

"When public opinion realizes that its generals and admirals have failed," says General MacArthur, "the revolution in Japan thought will be terrific. Therein lies the basis for ultimate hope that the Japanese citizen will cease his almost idolatrous worship of the military and readjust his thoughts along more rational lines."

Therein may also lie the strongest hope for a speedy victory.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

A Discussion On Diabetes

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
I RECEIVE numerous letters which say—"I have diabetes. If I diet will I ever be cured?"

Or—"I had sugar in the urine and blood. I have taken insulin and the sugar is gone. Can I stop now?"

The honest answer to both these questions is—"No." They both show an entire misconception of the nature of the disease diabetes.

Diabetes is a disturbance of starch or sugar nutrition. Sugar is burned in the body to furnish energy—muscular action and body heat, just as gasoline is used in an engine. The substance which sparks the sugar is insulin formed by certain glands in the pancreas.

Diabetes is a disease of these glands. When their secretion of insulin is deficient, sugar accumulates in the blood, flows off in the urine, just as choke accumulates in your automobile when the spark plugs are dirty. This can be treated either by giving insulin artificially (sparking) or reducing the starches in the diet. The improvement, however, is only temporary. The underlying condition still exists. The treatment has to be renewed daily indefinitely. The treatment though temporary is effective, and diabetes is now one of the easiest of all the chronic diseases to control.

Advantage of Control
The advantage of using this control is that if conscientiously done the sugar tolerance of any diabetic gradually stages some degree of a come back. To that extent we can speak of a cure, or partial cure.

There are two general classes of diabetes—youth and old. They need different kinds of care because the young diabetic always has a severe case, and requires insulin almost daily, while the older diabetic has a more or less mild case that can be controlled in most instances by diet alone.

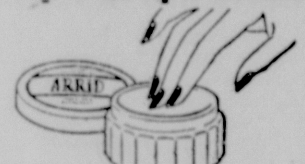

It is in this latter class of the middle aged, or elderly, diabetic that treatment is so gratifying that it may be said they make a partial recovery. They renew their spark plugs. They are good examples of the old saying of Dr. Osler that the way to live a long time is to acquire a chronic disease and nurse it.

Report On Patients

I have a recent report on 55 diabetic patients who under treatment improved so much, on diet alone, that they increased the ability of the body to utilize starches and sugars almost to normal.

In all cases the greatest improvement occurred when weight reduction was made. That was the real first objective of treatment. It is easy to see why weight reduction should help diabetes. If a man's insulin cells—spark plugs—can't produce enough sparking to burn sugar to furnish energy to a body which weighs 200 pounds, they may be able to do so when his body weighs only 150 pounds. If the diabetic can't replace his injured spark plugs he can reduce the size of the engine they have to service.

In performing this weight reduction the diet will necessarily be low in starches and sugars and thus perhaps by giving the insulin-forming cells a rest you allow them to stage a come back.

To this extent it may be said that diabetes is at least partially curable.

THE REST OF MY LIFE WITH YOU

by Faith Baldwin

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

"You married Irene without telling me beforehand. I refused to let myself be hurt. . . . If that was what you wanted, well and good, I grew fond of her. I applauded her efforts to follow in my footsteps. When she died, I was stricken, chiefly for your sake."

Matthew said, "You look at me as if it was my fault."

"I haven't even thought it. Then, when Judith returned. . . . I was glad, I thought she was right for you. I still do."

After a pause, Matthew frowned. "I suppose I'm to be tickled to death about you and Lynn?"

"No," said his mother. "I don't expect anything of the kind."

Suddenly he exclaimed, "I've been a fool!"

Mary held her breath.

Presently he went on, "Judith wanted a child. I didn't. I didn't want to share her. . . . I thought we could wait. If she had had a baby this wouldn't have happened."

His mother said steadily, "Don't be too sure of that. What Judith wanted was that your need for a child would be as deep and compelling as her own, a living symbol of your love for each other."

"I thought we were sufficient to each other."

"You weren't," his mother said, after a moment.

The doorbell rang. She said, "That's Lynn. He's coming for dinner." She looked at her son. "I'm not going to ask you to be civil to him," she said firmly. "I'm going to tell you to be civil."

Lynn came in, and looked from one to the other. He said, "I see that you told him." He crossed over to the young doctor and held out his hand. "And I see that you don't like the idea, Matthew. But perhaps you'll get used to it. I hope so, very sincerely."

Matthew took the older man's hand, saying, "It's all right with me, Lynn. I was a little startled, at first." He tried to smile; succeeded. He added, "I hope you'll be very happy."

"Good!" exclaimed Lynn heartily. "We expect to be. If your mother isn't, I shall beat her on alternate Tuesdays." He looked younger than Matthew had ever seen him, more confident, gay. He saw his mother look from him to Lynn, saw her face light up, her eyes shine.

He crossed over and kissed his mother on the cheek. He said, "Okay—and I'll give you away," and patted her on the shoulder. Tears stood in her eyes. She thought, "It's hard for him, but he's trying."

Lynn asked, "Aren't you staying to dinner?"

Matthew shook his head. "I have to make a call," he said. "So long, you two."

Driving out to Westchester in the thick darkness, heavy with wet snow, he thought, "Well, that's that. He had lost them both, his mother and his wife."

Matthew celebrated Christmas by dining alone at his club. Little Place was closed, and he refused a dozen invitations. His mother and her husband were in Bermuda. She had said, "Lynn. . . . about Christmas. . . . I can't bear to leave Matthew alone," and Lynn had answered, "Then you mustn't, of course. But dare I exercise a husband's prerogative—that of advice only—and suggest that it might be good discipline?"

They had been married very quietly, with only Matthew and Lynn's daughter and her husband present.

Judith had wired: "You know how happy I am for you and how much I want to be with you." On the night before the wedding she had talked to Mary by telephone. Mary had asked, "Have you heard from Matthew?" and there was a silence; then Judith answered, "No."

So on Christmas night, Matthew dined at his club alone. He thought, "She can't let Christmas go by like this, she'll write, she'll wire, she'll phone. . . . But there was nothing."

He reached home late that night. Olga and Nils had done their best with holly and a small trimmed tree. They had, that morning, displayed their gifts from Judith and Matthew had admired the tree, those from his mother and Lynn, from his associates, from patients.

Twice during the evening he went to the telephone and asked for long distance, only to tell the operator that he had changed his mind. When, shortly before midnight, the

Keeping American Homes Intact

We're great home lovers in our town. Family folk—like most Americans. So when war came, and the boys left in uniform, and the girls went into war plants, folks began to shake their heads.

Take Ben Ryder's family, for instance—all doing something different. Young Ben's in the Navy, and his sister's in the airplane plant. Ben's foreman at the tool shop, and Ma spends her days at the Canteen.

A broken home? Don't you believe it! When Ben relaxes with his evening glass of beer, and Mom and Sis sit down to write their daily letter to Ben Jr., they're closer together than ever. . . . bound by a strong and common purpose—to keep their family, their America, intact.

From where I sit, the strength of America lies in that family spirit—in the tolerance and mutual respect and understanding that have made the American family a strong and vital force for good!

I am enclosing my address so that others may notify me of any they know in this region that are in the service. I shall be very glad to visit any in this region as long as I am here which looks like the duration.

He is expecting a public relations assignment in about two weeks. He will then have further training in this region.

Lew Smith Is Principal

"Stopped at Le Mesa, 11 miles out of San Diego, and ran across Lew Smith. He is doing very well out here. Saw a large front page article about him in the local papers with his photo on the day that school opened. He is principal of a high school (Grossmont) that has an enrollment of 1520 this year. His position is similar to Mr. Kerr's as he is directly under the school board. He has a nice home here and is constructing a new one to move into.

SALEM COLONY IN CALIFORNIA DOING WELL, JONES FINDS

In the following letter to The News, Russell C. Jones, Salem man now employed in San Diego, Calif., tells about Salem people he has met on the west coast:

"I have visited the following people from Salem and thought that the people from home might be interested. It is a real pleasure to meet some one from home especially those in the service.

I am enclosing my address so that others may notify me of any they know in this region that are in the service. I shall be very glad to visit any in this region as long as I am here which looks like the duration.

"William K. Jones, my brother, came down from Port Mugu Sept. 10 and visited for the week-end. This was our first meeting since he returned from the Pacific zone. He is now in training and in process of reorganizing a new unit.

George Kleon Recovering

"I located George Kleon at the Balboa hospital in San Diego. He is recovering very nicely and expects to get his medical discharge in a near future. He described some of his work with the Marines and numerous invasion trips.

"I knew that Bill Gibson was in this territory so started out to find him one evening. Was very lucky and found him at Camp Miramar, 14 miles from San Diego. He seemed to be the happiest I have seen Bill, just to see some one from home. He is doing very well but is having quite a session with the dentist. He is expecting a public relations assignment in about two weeks. He will then have further training in this region.

Low Smith Is Principal

"Stopped at Le Mesa, 11 miles out of San Diego, and ran across Low Smith. He is doing very well out here. Saw a large front page article about him in the local papers with his photo on the day that school opened. He is principal of a high school (Grossmont) that has an enrollment of 1520 this year. His position is similar to Mr. Kerr's as he is directly under the school board. He has a nice home here and is constructing a new one to move into.

"A few streets away is the residence of Robert Leipper and Eugene Leipper, who both used to be Salem residents. While at the Robert Leippers I met the wife of Dale Leipper. Dale is in the service in the Aleutians at the present time.

"I am working for Westinghouse Co. as their field service engineer at the San Diego base. I like the work but hope some day soon to get back to Salem again."

Russell's address is: Russell C. Jones, 2350 La Jolla Ave., San Diego 10, Calif.

Peleliu Stalemate Broken; Air Attacks In Pacific Continue

(By Associated Press)
U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 28.—America's Philippines-bound invaders were reported making rapid progress in the Palaus on the eastern approaches while the air arm, which has lashed the Philippines from Mindanao to Manila, made southern archipelago waters unsafe even for Japanese barges.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, whose recent communiques have told of agonizingly slow progress over and around Japanese-infested ridges on Peleliu, said last night the Marines and soldiers are moving faster toward complete conquest of that air base island in the Palaus.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whose recent communiques have reported sinkings by air attack of enemy freighters off the southern Philippines, announced today his sky patrols are pounding on barge traffic along Mindanao's south shores from Davao to Zamboanga. Five barges were sunk Sunday night and Monday morning in Davao gulf.

Nimitz' communique, which placed the total of Japanese killed in the Palaus at 8,537—a ratio of better than 12 for every American life lost—said Peleliu's invaders have "brought the entire island under our control with the exception of Umorbrolog mountain (Bloody Noeridge) and a small pocket at the northeastern tip."

To the south of Peleliu on conquered Angaur Japanese remnants timed an infiltration effort Monday night with a raid by two Japanese planes but both failed dismally, headquarters said.

MacArthur's communique disclosed a sensational roundup flight of more than 3,000 miles by long range planes which carried the war to the Japanese at Batavia, capital of the Nipponese army-controlled administration for Java and Sumatra.

Other planes sank two small freighter-transports and a 3,000-ton vessel loaded with gasoline in the vicinity of Dutch Celebes.

Weather Bureau Claims Things Too Dry for Fall

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Sept. 28.—More than half the state is too dry for fall-sown crops to germinate, the weather bureau reported today.

Meteorologist George W. Minding said that up to Wednesday average rainfall during the preceding week had been only .22 of an inch.

"Rainfall was not general," said Minding, "for it varied from .051 of an inch in some sections to 1.59 inches in Norwalk."

Minding said weather stations throughout the state had reported a great deal of wheat already sown, despite the drought, but added that only in eastern Ohio had any germinated.

"Some of the remaining corn crop still is subject to frost injury," he said, "because it is not matured and needs better than a week to fill out and become ripe."

Salem Soldier Utilizes Spare Time to Advantage

Spare time in the army can be turned to profit, according to Staff Sgt. George D. Adams of Salem, now stationed at the Infantry replacement training center at Camp Wolters, Texas.

Sgt. Adams, son of George T. Adams of Salem, has been using a few hours of off-duty time each week studying through the U. S. Armed Forces Institute of Madison, Wis., an official school of the War and Navy departments which offers correspondence courses in high school, college and vocational subjects for men and women in the military service.

As a result of his study, Sgt. Adams has completed a course in engineering mechanics and has been awarded a certificate of proficiency by his commanding officer. Sgt. Adams, who lived at 340 E. Eighth st., is now residing in Mineral Wells, Texas, with his wife the former Miss Jean Isobel Dixon and their year-old son, Richard Lee. Sgt. Adams is a clerk in the 11th Infantry Training regiment and holds the Good Conduct medal. He joined the army in December, 1942, and has been stationed at Camp Wolters ever since.

PIN-WORMS Now can be Beaten!

The miseries of Pin-Worms have been known for centuries, and many doctors have sought a way to deal with this dreadful pest that lives and grows inside the human body.

Today, thanks to an important scientific discovery, a new and highly effective treatment is being hailed by medical authorities. It is based on a remarkable drug known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablet developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines.

P-W makes it unnecessary for you or your child to suffer in silence with the embarrassing rectal itch caused by Pin-Worms, or to take chances on the real distress they often create. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy Pin-Worms.

So watch for possible warning signs such as: itching seat and nose, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for a package of P-W and follow the simple directions carefully.

It is easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

PERFORM AUTOPSY IN M'PHERSON DEATH

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 28.—An autopsy will be conducted here this morning on the body of Aimee McPherson, 53 year old world famed evangelist, to determine the cause of her death in a hotel room yesterday.

Shortly before she had ridden to an Oakland auditorium in a horse and buggy with a customary display of showmanship for which she gained fame in 34 years of evangelism and delivered a lecture on the four-square gospel.

WARTIME SLUDGE RUINED THIS MOTOR!

Black, muddy sludge forms in your motor when you fail to change oil often enough these wartime days. Above photo proves how sludge can ruin your motor. Sludge clogged oil screens and oil lines, cutting off oil. Lacking oil, bearings burned out, pistons broke and two piston rods drove these holes right through the motor.

SAVE YOUR MOTOR

Wartime sludge can wreck the motor of your car, too. To fight sludge and save your motor have your Sinclair Dealer: 1. Drain out used oil at recommended intervals while motor is hot. 2. Flush parts clean with special flushing oil. 3. Refill crankcase with clean Sinclair motor oil.

Instruct Employers On Rehiring GI Joe

COLUMBUS, Sept. 28.—A system designed to force reluctant Ohio employers to re-hire GI Joe and Jane when the war is over has been explained by Capt. Lafayette W. Argetsinger, Jr., Selective Service officer in charge of the Veterans' Personnel division.

Within 40 days after his discharge from service, a veteran must apply for his old job if he wants it. Should this job be denied, the veteran informs his local draft board which then seeks to arbitrate the difficulties. If this fails, State Selective Service steps in.

The matter then is referred to a local advisory committee which will employ the "what-will-your-friends-and-business-associates-think" pressure.

Should the plea go unheeded, Argetsinger said, the case is carried to court at no expense to the veterans.

Dismissals will be thoroughly investigated, Argetsinger added.

ent in other sectors. On the Russian front that would mean the first and third are building up the strength the Germans fear most. Here it may mean only that slightly less pressure permits counter-attacks in the center while Patton and Hodges await the zero hour and complete their reorganization after the headlong dash across France.

The airborne attacks in Holland were generally interpreted as the fore-runners of an end run north of the Siegfried anchor at Kleve. Major forces are poised to the south for what could be direct eastward blows. Whatever it is to be, the Allied Supreme command planned it that way, taking into consideration that there would be battles and perhaps setbacks, but without the slightest intention of letting a few days' delay at any point interfere with the main campaign plan.

Carry McCoy Case To Appellate Court

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE Sept. 28.—The Second district court of appeals will convene here Oct. 10 to hear the plea of James W. Collett's attorneys that the 60-year-old Clinton county hog breeder convicted of the triple murder of the Elmer McCoy family, be given a new trial.

Collett was convicted of slaying Elmer McCoy, his wife, Forrest and their daughter Mildred, last Thanksgiving eve. He has been in death row at Ohio penitentiary for several weeks.

Under Ohio law, the appellate court will determine either the date of execution, if no exceptions to the trial are found, or will set a new trial date, providing errors alleged by the defense are sustained.

Ten instances of alleged error are claimed by the defendant in his appeal, including the charge that a confession he made in Toledo under a lie-detector was obtained under duress, defense attorneys indicated today.

In the event Collett's appeal is denied, there are still two avenues by which he may escape execution in the electric chair.

He may ask the Ohio Supreme court for a review of the case, and if this is denied, there is a possibility his death sentence may be commuted by the governor.

Farm Machinery Rationing Ended Suddenly By WFA

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Rationing and distribution control of all farm machinery and equipment, except corn pickers, was ended suddenly today by the War Food Administration.

The action was announced by War Food Administrator Marvin Jones, who said the 1944 production period and season of use for most rationed implements had passed and that the need for further controls except on corn pickers during the 1944-45 crop year "is not anticipated."

Controls over corn pickers are being retained, the agency said, in order to assure an equitable distribution.

RUSSIANS CROSS INTO YUGOSLAVIA

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Russian troops have invaded Yugoslavia after crossing the Danube just west of the iron gate at the Romanian frontier town of Orsova, the German communique made known today.

"In the Danube bend, there was lively reconnoitering activity on both sides of the iron gate," said the official war bulletin, broadcast from Berlin. "Soviet forces who have advanced south from Orsova in a southern direction were repulsed and enemy formations who had crossed the Danube were smashed."

Orsova is on the river frontier and only Yugoslav territory lies to the south. Moscow has not yet confirmed an incursion into the territory where Marshal Tito's partisan army operates, but weeks ago told officially of reaching the iron gate—the wild mountain canyons through which the Danube courses through the Transylvanian Alps.

The Germans asserted several thousand prisoners were taken in Warsaw and that another segment of Lt. Gen. Tadeusz (Bor) Komorowski's underground army surrendered.

"I deprecate very much people being carried away into premature expectations of an early cessation of the fighting, he declared in a full-dress report on the Quebec conference and the war in general. Prime Minister Churchill told the house of commons today that Allied forces in northwestern Europe had swelled to between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 men and that 200,000 enemy troops were cut off in Holland alone, where their destruction could be "deemed highly probable."

Bulldogs, Quakers Match Talents At Reilly Stadium Friday

Coaches Barrett And Reid Have Squads In Game Trim; East Palestine Hopes High

With offenses sharpened, defenses stiffened and enthusiasm high, both squads—Salem's Quakers and East Palestine's Bulldogs—are ready to do battle at Reilly stadium at 7:45 p. m. tomorrow.

Both teams are unbeaten in a pair of tries, East Palestine having won one game, 31-6, over Sebring and tied another with Leetonia, 19-19. Salem posted two wins, one over Sebring, 24-2, and another over Ravenna, 20-6.

Considering lettermen and experience, Salem has a definite advantage over the lighter Bulldogs. Coach Ben Barrett is starting eight letter winners, while Coach John Reid has seven. The difference is much greater, however, when total reserve power is added up.

Reid is without a full second team to rely on he says. Although he has more than 11 extra lads on the bench the East Palestine mentor says he is far short of a second team that could be counted on in action against any stiff competition.

Here Barrett's eggregations are well fixed. The Quaker mentor has at least one other full squad that he can count on and a good many third stringers who can be depended on in action.

From a comparison of the performances of the two teams against their only common foe—Sebring—it would seem to most observers that the edge, if any, went to East Palestine. The Bulldog star, Herb Gorky, chalked up one more touchdown against the Trojans all by himself last Salem margin.

Now rated as the top scorer in the state, with 49 points in two games, the 210 fullback will undoubtedly be the big threat to Salem. Harry McGahan, a 160 pound halfback, who is plenty shifty and fast, will also be a serious bidder for scoring honors.

To stop East Palestine's most serious bid for victory here in several years Barrett has offensive secrets up his sleeve that may pull

BROWNS DROP ONE GAME, TIGERS IN WINNING POSITION

St. Louis Now Must Plug Every Ball Game If Tigers Take Nats

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Washington's maligned Senators, picked to win the pennant in March but destined to be a gloomy last in October, hold the key today to Detroit's first pennant bid since 1940.

Granted the Bengals may find the last four steps the steepest after beating the Nats 15 times in their first 16 meetings, but the two opposition candidates, St. Louis, one game back, and New York, three lengths off the pace, will be clashing in a dog-eat-dog series that can easily eliminate both.

With four games to go all around, Detroit's one-game lead looks good because the schedule is breaking in their favor after a long uphill struggle.

As long as the Tigers get pitching and hitting like yesterday's 4-0 victory over Philadelphia, nobody can get close.

Rain in St. Louis almost turned things upside down yesterday but the Browns, after moving the Boston finale from afternoon to night and delaying the start for an hour waiting for the drizzle to stop, finally played and were sorry. It was the end of a 7-game St. Louis winning streak and a 10-game Boston losing string.

Pinky Woods, a surprise nominee, took the decision, 4-1, his fourth of the year, but gave way to Red Barrett after a wild spell in the eighth. Denny Galehouse was lifted for a pinchhitter in the fifth trailing 1-0, and his relief pitchers failed as the Browns muffed repeated opportunities in the late innings.

It was Newhouse with win No. 28 for the Tigers in the shutout of the A's, boosting the Newhouse-Trout total to 55 victories, tying the old mark held by Cleveland's Jim Bagby, Sr., and Stan Coveleskie.

New York kept its foot in the door by trimming Chicago, 7-2. Cleveland showed Earl Henry, a lefthander from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and the recruit beat Washington, 6-4.

Cincinnati's Bucky Walters picked up his 23rd National League success by topping New York, 8-1. Freshman Clyde King hurled Brooklyn to a 3-2 shade over St. Louis. Boston held on to nose out Pittsburgh, 4-3 and Chicago came up with two in the 11th for a 5-3 edge over the Phils, in other senior circuit games.

Here's Quaker Starting Eleven

HERE'S A LOOK AT MIDWESTERN FOOTBALL CAMPS

Notre Dame Off For Start In Pittsburgh. Hope To Equal 1943's 41-0

By JAN HARTNETT

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—The Irish from Notre Dame are heading east tonight to battle the Pittsburgh Panthers Saturday in the opening round of a tough ten-game campaign.

Notre Dame will start its 56th season of intercollegiate football with Bill O'Connor and Bob Skoglund, ends; George Sullivan and John Adams, tackles; George Marts and John Mantrangelo, guards; Ralph Stewart, center; Frank Danciewicz, quarterback; Chick Maggioni and Bob Kelly, halfbacks, and Elmer Angsman, fullback.

The Panthers, out to avenge a 41-3 pasting by the Irish last season, hung a 26-13 victory on their belts last week by downing the West Virginia Mountaineers.

Around other midwest camps: Northwestern will get its first taste of Big Ten competition at Dwyer stadium Saturday against Wisconsin. The Badgers hold an edge of 16 victories against 11 for the Cats in a series which started in 1890. Four games ended in ties.

Coach Lynn Waldorf sent his varsity through another stiff drill on aerial defense yesterday. Coach Harry Stuhldreher's gridders went through their last strenuous workout in preparation for Saturday's clash.

Illinois, boasting two victories in as many starts, will face Great Lakes Saturday with its regular left guard, Larry Frost, out of action and his first replacement, art Demeter, a doubtful candidate because of injuries. The Bluejackets, also victorious in two games, were bolstered yesterday by the return of Halfback Jim Youel and Center Bill Baughman.

Lots of Passing

The airways should be filled with flying footballs Saturday when Michigan's Bill Culligan and Indiana's Bib Hoernschmeyer unlimber their pitching arms at Ann Arbor. The Hoosier-Wolverine series has produced nine triumphs for Michigan and two for Indiana. Coach Cecil Isbell named Frank Bauman, Purdue's veteran wingman, as acting captain for the home opener against Marquette. At Milwaukee center Marty Silovich was named the Hilltoppers' captain for the Purdue tilt by Coach Tom Stidham. Dick Van Dusen, Birmingham, Mich., replaced absent Bob Loeble at center yesterday as Minnesota sped preparations for its game with Nebraska. Loeble, a candidate for deck officer in the Navy, may be available for only four more games. Lt. Comdr. Jack Meagher ran his first and second Iowa Seahawk teams through light passing and punting drills. Ohio State's team, armed with Missouri plays, scrimmaged against the Buckeye varsity in preparation for the coming of the Tiger squad of 33 Friday, the eve of the fourth tilt between the schools.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Maybe the American league pennant race isn't exactly what Joe McCarthy was thinking about when he said that final Yankees-Browns series would settle the struggle, but it seems that Joe really called it right. . . . Self-appointed All-America football pickers already are plugging Tex Warrington, the Auburn center who is tabbed by Coach Carl Voyles as the best pivot man he ever has seen; Barney P.ole of Army and Paul Walker of Yale, both ends. . . . The way Heavyweight Lee Oma explains that knockout by Tami Manu-rick last week is "I ran out of gas. Tex Sullivan (Lee's manager) forgot to bring those coupons."

Football tip: Auburn never has won its opening game under a new coach and Alabama never has lost an opener during Frank Thomas' regime. . . . The American Basketball league received bids for franchises from seven new cities at a recent meeting. . . . Heavyweight Joe Baksi and his wife have a double date to have their tonsils removed today. . . . Announcing that the "Mighty" Mouschell had begun road work at Madame Bey's camp, where several champions have drilled, Jimmy Johnston remarked: "If there's any inspiration in that, it may be inculcated into his mind by way of his feet."

STATE'S POSTWAR PROJECTS INCLUDE LAKE FRONT DREAM

COLUMBUS, Sept. 28.—Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert bubbles with optimism when discussing projects now being formulated by the Ohio Postwar Program commission.

Herbert, chairman of the commission, expressed belief in an interview that even partial realization of the extensive postwar plans "should make Ohio the busiest state in the Union in 10 years... free from the spectre of unemployment."

Because the state's surplus "should be used for state improvements," expansion and renovation of state institutions — particularly mental hospitals — are at the top of the list. The commission is cognizant, Herbert added, that after the war Ohio will have increased responsibilities in caring for war veterans and their orphans, and that a new home or two may be necessary.

After that — well, there are two major conservation dreams — development of the lake front and reforestation of sub-marginal southeastern Ohio — which Herbert believes "would pay for themselves."

Postwar projects still in the discussion stage, he said, would make northern Ohio's lake beaches a mecca for tourists, while tree-planting in the other end of the state could be the basis of a pulpwood industry.

He emphasized that Ohio has a great future in its still undeveloped natural resources. Herbert said the postwar commission will have to digest reports of sub-committees in time to seek necessary legislation by January. He predicted that the latest of the sub-committees — a 14-member group on municipal problems — would ask the legislature to relax laws preventing cities from building up funds for future improvements, to suspend the 65 per cent majority for short term bond issues, and to authorize appointment of county zoning commissions.
